

Isaiah 5:1-30

Date _____

1. ____ Now will I _____ to my _____ a song of my beloved touching his _____. My wellbeloved hath a vineyard in a very _____ hill:
2. ____ And I will lay it waste: it shall not be _____, nor digged; but there shall come up briers and _____: I will also command the _____ that they _____ no rain upon it.
3. ____ For the _____ of the LORD of hosts [is] the house of _____, and the men of Judah his pleasant _____: and he _____ for judgment, but behold oppression; for righteousness, but _____ a cry.
4. ____ And the _____, and the _____, the tabret, and _____, and wine, are in their feasts: but they _____ not the work of the LORD, neither consider the _____ of his hands.
5. ____ But the LORD of _____ shall be _____ in judgment, and God that is _____ shall be sanctified in righteousness.
6. ____ Woe unto them that call evil _____, and _____ evil; that put darkness for light, and _____ for darkness; that put _____ for sweet, and _____ for bitter!
7. ____ Therefore as the fire devoureth the _____, and the _____ consumeth the chaff, [so] their _____ shall be as rottenness, and their _____ shall go up as dust: because they have _____ away the law of the LORD of hosts, and despised the _____ of the Holy _____ of Israel.
8. ____ And he will lift up an _____ to the nations from _____, and will hiss unto them from the _____ of the earth: and, behold, they shall come with _____ swiftly:
9. ____ Their _____ [shall be] like a _____, they shall roar like _____ lions: yea, they shall roar, and lay hold of the _____, and shall carry [it] away _____, and none shall deliver [it].
10. ____ And in that day they shall _____ against them like the roaring of the _____: and if [one] look unto the _____, behold darkness [and] sorrow, and the _____ is darkened in the heavens thereof.