Jeremiah 2:13, “For my people have committed two evils; they have forsaken me the fountain of living waters, [and] hewed them out cisterns, broken cisterns, that can hold no water.”

Water is vital to life. People have always settled near where water is because it’s needed daily. One can only live a very short time without water. Lack of water leads to certain death.

Even more so spiritual water is vital to eternal life. Lack of spiritual water leads to spiritual death. When Jesus was at the well in John 4, a woman came to the city to draw water. She came to draw water because of the needs of the physical body. She found out about spiritual water while there. Jesus was at the well and told her in John 4:10, “Jesus answered and said unto her, If thou knewest the gift of God, and who it is that saith to thee, Give me to drink; thou wouldest have asked of him, and he would have given thee living water.”

Jesus said she could have asked, and He would have given her living water. This living water is salvation. Being saved is often represented as having access to water, because water is vital to life. Most of our physical bodies are composed of water. The earth is slightly over 75% water. We are saved by baptism in water. (I Peter 3:20-21, “<sup>20</sup>Which sometime were disobedient, when once the longsuffering of God waited in the days of Noah, while the ark was a preparing, wherein few, that is, eight souls were saved by water. <sup>21</sup>The like figure whereunto [even] baptism doth also now save us (not the putting away of the filth of the flesh, but the answer of a good conscience toward God,) by the resurrection of Jesus Christ.” It’s no wonder that the LORD used water so much to talk about salvation.

Those in the days of Jeremiah had committed two evils. They had forsaken the LORD, the fountain of living waters. They also had hewn out broken cisterns that could not hold water.

Consider how foolish that would be with physical water. One has access to a fountain of living waters. A fountain with living waters would be continually flowing with clean water. Instead of using that source of clean water, it is forsaken and one works hard to dig a cistern. Yet this cistern is broken and cannot hold water. How much more foolish it is to forsake the LORD, the fountain of living waters, and turn to the world. When one does this, they are digging broken cisterns. They will die of spiritual thirst.

I can’t help but think of the contrast of water when thinking of heaven and hell. In Luke 16 the rich man died, and in hell he lifted up his eyes. He asks to have Lazarus (who is in a saved condition) to dip his finger in water and cool his tongue. He asks for this because we are told he was tormented in the flame.

How much water would he be able to get just by someone dipping their finger in water and touching his tongue? What about the rest of his body? It would be almost no water and almost no comfort to him whatsoever. Yet he was asking this smallest of requests. It was denied. Not even one drop of water was given to him.

—Continue to remember Alice Thrasher, Steve Seaton, Shirley Parson, Brad Terry, and Enola Zigler. Larry Compton underwent knee replacement surgery this past Tuesday. He is doing very well and is recovering at his daughter's house in Tennessee. He will not be back with us until January. Shirley Edwards was admitted to the hospital in Glasgow late Tuesday night with extreme chest pains. The doctors thought the pain was not her heart but a severely constricted esophagus. Yesterday she had a procedure to widen the esophagus. She came home about 1:00 p.m. yesterday and is doing quite well.

Compare that to what is pictured for the saved in Heaven. In Revelation 22:1 John writes, “And he shewed me a pure river of water of life, clear as crystal, proceeding out of the throne of God and of the Lamb.”

In Heaven the saved have access to water that is pure and a river of the water of life. It has no contaminants being clear as crystal. It proceeds out of the throne of God and of the Lamb. It comes directly from God. It will freely flow forever for the saved.

It's hard not to picture this as the water we know, but it's the best we can understand. It's water for our souls that will forever nourish us and never permit us to have a moment's thirst.

No one is purposely going to deny their bodies water. Entire societies plan where to settle and live their lives based on the availability of water. Yet people are choosing places to spiritually live where there is a drought and dearth of spiritual water. They will die of spiritual thirst and lose their souls eternally.

Right now while we are alive and able to choose, this living water is freely available. The prophet Isaiah wrote in 55:1, “Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money; come ye, buy, and eat; yea, come, buy wine and milk without money and without price.” The spiritual water is here and freely available. Come and drink to your fill. —Marty Edwards❖
